Trevor

I met with Misael Cabrera a month or so ago and he suggested we chat with you about watersheds that you were working on in the Triennial Review. You were fast as I think the notice for the review came out about 5 days after I met with Misael. However, I would still like to sit down with you to discuss the washes around the Rosemont site and some of the monitoring that we would like to partner with ADEQ on.

Adam Hawkins may also be bugging you for a meeting and if he is I apologize for the duplication but I was reviewing some state land applications and it brought the monitoring to mind. If you have time sometime in the last two weeks of this month could we schedule something? I am at a board meeting next week but after that my calendar has some spots that would allow me to drive up to chat with you.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Cheers!
Kathy

Bret

I want to make sure that you see this. Can we discuss how this may interplay with our discussion this afternoon?

Thanks

Re: Triennial Review Rulemaking

Dear Mr. Baggione:

Hudbay has learned that the Arizona Department of Environmental Quality (the Department) has commenced a rulemaking process to review the surface water standards for waters in Arizona (commonly called the Triennial Review process).

In this rulemaking process, Hudbay requests that the Department undertake a review of both the rulemaking and listing process, as well as the historical water quality data underlying those rulemakings, that resulted in the listing of each of the Arizona Surface Waters classified as Outstanding Arizona Waters over the years. Hudbay encourages the Department to include in its review an evaluation of stormwater runoff contributions to intermittent and perennial waters.

Thank you for your consideration, and if you need to reach me I am available via email at Kathy.Arnold@hubbay.com or at (520) 495-3502

Re: Triennial Review Rulemaking

Dear Ms. Arnold:

The Arizona Department of Environmental Quality (ADEQ) has received your January 10, 2017, letter commenting on ADEQ's periodic review of the surface water standards for waters in Arizona (Triennial Review). To be clear, the review and subsequent rulemaking has not yet commenced. However, we are gathering data and preparing a review calendar.

We appreciate your interest in the process and will certainly include a review of current and historical listing processes, as well as the data which has resulted in the listings of the Outstanding Arizona Waters (OAW). We are interested in providing clarity to areas of the OAW listing process that are ambiguous, including the evaluation of storm water runoff contributions to intermittent and perennial waters.

Again, thank you for your interest.

Sincerely,

Trevor Baggione, Director
Water Quality Division
Arizona Department of Environmental Quality
